A TRAVELLING ISLAND.

In a recent address before the American Geographical Society Elmer L. Cortholl showed a map of the large island just a little north of the Argentine city of Rosario, in the Parana River. The island has for years been moving down the stream, narrowing the passage between it and the city. The fact that the island has moved from its old position will not appear so strauge when the phenomenon is explained. It seems after all to be a simple matter. The vast body of water coming down the Parana impinges upon the wide northern front of the island, and tears away great masses of earth from the banks, carrying the sand and other detritus away from the northern shore. The island so obstructs the current that an eddy is formed on the south side of the land mass, and into this eddy most of the earth that is torn away from the northern bank is carried and deposited against the south shore in this quiet part of the waters; so that while the north side of the island is constantly wearing away, the southern shore is being built up and extended, and thus the island is gradually travelling down the stream. The engineering problem does not seem to be a very difficult one. It is proposed to protect the northern bank so DISCARDED STEEL WIRE that it cannot be further eroded by the current. Of course, if this bank is kept intact there will be no earth to carry around to the southern shore, and that

STRAITS CURRENCY REFORM.

The Standard has an article on the Straits Currency Committee's report. The writer emphasises two points. He thinks the currency abould consist of token coins of halfdollars (on the same lines as in Japan). This suggestion however, has not been adopted by the Committee. His second 1515 point is the Committee's recommendation that simultaneously with the arrival of the first supply of the new dollars, the import of Mexican and British dollars should be temporarily prohibited, and the export of the new dollars should also be prohibited. The article proceeds :-

The first point appears to be very important and its being disregarded night, in the future, lend to serious consequences, in fact, to far more serious consequences than the state of affairs which has given rise to the appointment of the Committee. The object of the measures recommended is to bring about fixity of exchange, which object, however, would not be certain to be attained. Supposing the rate which it is intended to establish ultimately as the change value of the Straits dollar to be 2s., it would only be necessary that silver should rise to above 98d, por toog ounce, and we would although on a higher level, again have all the vicissitudes of fluctuations in exchange. But, what is more serious, is that, if silver should rise above the price indicated, it would lead to all the fullweight Straits dollars being melted down to be sold as bullion, with the result that the Straits Scitlements would he entirely denuded of all currency. This, it must be admitted, is a serious contingency, and ought not to be lightly treated, the more so as the simple remedy above indicated is available. The second point, although of comparatively little importance, nevertheless deserves consideration. There appears to be absolutely no necessity for the proposed measures Their adoption is bound, in some way or other, to interfere with legitimate trade, while their non-enforcement would, no doubt, contribute to the change of standard being effected more smoothly. It is admitted that the contraction which will effect the appreciation of the new coin must take some time. Nothing would, therefore, be lost by dropping the above recommendations. The mere fact that it will be known that on some date or other the Mexican and British dollars will be demonstized will, in itself, lead to shipments of these coins being curtailed as much as possible, and, instead of people 1.45 p.m. to 2.15 p.m. Beery 10 minutes. | being anxious to increase their supplies, it is only reasonable to expect 3.30 p.m. to 5.30 p.m... Every 15 minutes. that everyone will do his best to get rid of as many of these dollars as he possibly can. Under these circumstances, and opinideting 8.45 p.m. and 9 p.m., 9.45 p.m. to 11.15 that everyone will have been fully forewarned, there is no hardship, if after the supply of the new do lars has been con-8.00 a.m. to 9.00 a.m., Every 15 minutes, sidered sufficient for requirements, it be 9.00 a.m. to 9.30 a.m. Every 30 minutes, notified that after, say, three months, 9.30 a.m. to 10,30 a.m. Every 15 minutes. Mexican and British dellars will cease to be legal tender. The bulk of these dollars would by that time no doubt have disappoared from the Straits, and have found their way to Chipa and other countries. 6.00 p.m. to 7.00 p.m. Levery 15 minutes. For the opposite reason there is no need to p.m. 16:00 p.m. Every 10 minutes. prohibit the export of the new coin Everybody will know that it is intely to appreciate, and will, therefore, be auxious to retain it in the country.

Captain O'Keefe's Will. The following telegram appears in the

New York Sun of 11th July :--Savannah, Ga., June 10.-Good nows came from Hongkong to day for Mrs Bridget ()'Keefe, widow of David O'Keefe, dubbed King of Yap' and her daughter, Mrs Lula Butler. It showed that they would receive a share of the estate left by O'Keefe. The news came by cable from Walter C. Hartridge, an attorney of Savannah, who went to Hongkong and the Island of Yap to look up the estate and the will left by O'Keefe.

The will was seen by Mr Hartridge. It names his illegitimate children as co heirs with his legitimate daughter in Savannah, Mrs Butler. The widow is not mentioned. The estate, Mr Hartridge found, consisted of $250,000 worth of property in Hong-kong and $250,000 in Yap, instead of the $2,000,0 0 reputed. This is in American money value.

The wording of the will, under the Gorman law, which obtains in Yap, means that Mrs Butler will get half the property under that jurisdiction. By the German law no testator can leave more than 50 per cent. of his property to other than his legitimate children. Under the English law, which governs at Hongkong, a man can leave his property to whomsoever he pleases, but can not deprive his widow of her dower rights, which means one-third interest in his real property for the balance of her life. There is where Mrs O'Keefe will come in. It is understood that one illegitimate daughter survives O'Keefe. His two illegitimate sons were drowned with him three

A POPULAR COMEDIENNE

DISCUSSES STAGE PERILS.

MISS Blanche Harcourt, the popular inusic-hall favourite, has been talking to a London paper about Stage Perils. Stars' of the theatrical world are envied for their big salaries: but (says Miss Harcourt), people little know the struggles which their favourite artistes have to go

One danger which Miss Harcourt knows | Annie Steel 1.75 | Training for Athletics and General how to avert was described by her in a Catherine Sterling, by Norma chat in her charming house at 5, St. Lorimer 1.75

Mary's Street, Kennington Road, London. The Spy Company, by A. C. Gunter 1.75

Last Autumn, said she, in relating A Branded Name, by J. Bloundelle

Miss Blanche Harcourt. (From & photograph.) this anecdote. 'I contracted, while attending a Gardon Party, a chill which led to rhoumatic fever. But for Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people that Garden Party would have cost me dear! I was hid up for a fortnight, and when I recom-menced my Professional Engagements 1 felt 'all to pieces." My nerves were completely shattered. I suffered with ferrible headaches and sickness, and it was often a fearful ordeal for me to go through my turn." All food seemed nauseous. and my appetite became so poor that my weight was reduced in two months two stone and a half. I used to lie in bed half the day, and then crawl out to theatre to do my "turn." I seemed to have lost all my energy, and my complexion went as yellow as saffron. I actually paid a boy to see me safely to the stage door, I felt so ill. I consulted doctors in several towns, but it was not until after I had tried Dr Williams' pink pills that I got any relief at all. The first box I took did me a lot of good, and I improved with every dose I took, until now, after taking three boxes, I can safely say I am thoroughly 718 cured. I feel as 'fit as a fiddle, ' and can eat like a Trojan. It is a mystery to me how all the horrible headaches, biliousness, languor, and giddiness have been so quickly and completely banished; but I am glad enough to know that they have gone from THE TRANSFORMATION. Such was the experience of this charming comedienne, whose public reputation lends weight as well as interest to her words. She says that her Transformation is due to the pills. Readers will observe that it was the genuine Dr Williams' pink pills for pale people that cured her-not a substitute, and the public will do well to note that substitutes never seem to have cured anyone. Angenia, biliousness, consumption, decline, eczema, fits, gout, heart disease, indigestion, kidney disorders, liver complaint, paralysis, and St. Vitus' dance are among the diseases they have cured. Ladies will read with particular interest the strong recommendation of Miss Blanche Harcourt, whose restoration to her dramatic triumphs she arributes to the means named in the int was above quoted from the South Lowlin Pros.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

There will be general satisfaction over the acquittal of Mr R G. MacEwen, Inspector of Markets, on the charge brought against him of accepting bribes from the Poultry Guild. But the evidence adduced at his trial reveals a state of affairs which the public cannot | consider satisfactory. According to the statements of the witnesses for the prosecution, the Poultry Guild agreed to offer bribes to a public officer to induce him to neglect his duties For many years we have urged upon the attention of the Government the absolute necessity, of a strict supervision of the 12," Queen's Road. food supply of the Colony, and it is only within recent years that this important department has received that attention which may be deemed necessary for the Goods per Braemar undelivered after preservation of the public health. The Rangoon Gazette of the 8th inst reports :-- Mr Cooper, an assistant Mesars Foucar and Co., who had been only seven or eight months in Rangoon, lost his life on Monday evening while boating on the Royal Lakes. He had gone out in single scull and when between the Boathouse and the Pavilion in Dalhousie Park, that is, where the Lake is deepest, he mus have overbalanced himself and he was thrown into the water. The boat, strange to say, was not upset. There were no boats near at the time and the accident was not seen by anyone; but Mr Marshali Principal of Rangoon College, who was in a single scull some distance off, naw Mr Cooper struggling in the water and rowed to the scene. JAPAN'S FINANCIAL POSITION.

Tokio, July 15. The gold reserve at the Bank of Japan is announced to be 113 million yen. The Bank also holds 40 million yen in gold bullion and foreign gold bonds, and the Treasury 20 millions, thus showing 173 millions of gold against notes issued to the amount of 200 million you. This is an unprecedented situation and the rate of interest is gradually falling. New stocks, companies, and concerns are being floated. The foreign trade for the first half year shows a large increase both in exports and imports, but the excess of imports is owing to last autumn's bad rice-crops. Now, with a favourable climate, there are hopes of good harvest.

A strong conflict is anticipated about the next Budget. One party of officials advocates a reduction in administrative expenses and increased taxation, while others thuidly advise domestic loans, for the neval increment.
